

14th February 2019,

The students of Arka Jain University spent the Valentine's Day in a unique way. Around 50 students of BBA and BA (Eco) department were selected for the visit. To celebrate this day of love, the students chose to visit the Old age Home, Ashirwad at New Baradwari, Sakchi.

Valentine's Day has been one of the widely celebrated occasions all around the globe. However the students of Arka Jain University reached the old age home with flowers and goodies, to share love and affection with the elderly. The students were warmly greeted by the inmates.

While some sang songs, others related stories from their childhood, thereby bonding with the students. The students were deeply moved and the older ones too could feel the energy of the young ones. The students were accompanied by their teacher Poonam Dabaria and Chanchal Mandal. Some students got very emotional and they all promised to visit it again.
