Workshop on Universal Human Values

Objective : Universal Human Values are very important concept in education. This is required to teach students what they should aspire and expect how they should develop and understand what they need and feel. How they should develop their abilities to Self-Awareness. This event was organized to make students be aware about Universal Human Values -meaning, practices, applications and outcome

Description & Flow of Events (including photos of the Event)

An online Workshop was organized by MBA Department School of Commerce and Management, Arka Jain University on “Universal Human Values” for students of MBA curriculum on 28-08-2021.

This event was organized to make students be aware about Universal Human Values – meaning, practices, applications and outcome. They were shown with PPT presentation in the subject. There were 2 video SKIDs prepared by students shown in this session which has been instrumental in convincing the Human Values and discussion with students took place.

The First SKID was about comparing physical amenities between individuals. Sometimes we feel down as we may have inferior or outdated products and not look into our ability and activities to afford that. The skid was played to show that comparison of physical amenities does not end. It varies among people based on the parameters discussed above.

The point was established that we should be happy and contented with what we have and be happy with it.

The second SKID was about Values that people give to artificial clothes, commodities and not to Relationship. The show was like when an old friend visited a person, the host started talking about dress, watch, company he was working, places he visited and he was not paying attention to old friend who visited him to talk. In between the host receives call from his boss and then he came to know that the visitor was a silent partner in company where host is working. This has established that we shall give importance to Human being and not to things like dress or other amenities that one has.

These SKIDS were developed by students and they enjoyed doing this.

The Workshop was found to be very useful as students learned about values and they learn importance of Relationship and Human Value for Harmony in society.

25 students participated in the event and they learnt and experienced the strategies to implement.

Student actively took participation and have understood the concept of Human Value, Right Understanding and Right Feeling etc. after the event.

This event was conducted by Mr Mukul Pandey of MBA Department, School of Commerce and management, Arka Jain University.
