Department of Journalism and Mass Communication organised film screening event for the students. The students visited PJP Cinepolis, P&M city centre mall at Bistupur. The film ‘Gold’ was shown to the students at PJP Cinepolis.

Film Gold is a fictional film which is inspired by true events and people, of India’s first gold medal win as an independent nation at the 1948 Olympics in London. The team manager Tapan Das played by Akshay Kumar leads the charge to assemble the country’s first all-Indian hockey team. His aim is to beat the Britishers at their own game, on their own turf.

The motive of this film screening was to make them learn the art of film review and writing a film review. The students were given a task to watch the film and then write a film review considering different aspects of film making such as music, dialogues, acting, direction etc.

Since the film was based on sports so students learnt to review sports driven film.

This was really a great opportunity for the students because during this film screening they not only got a chance to watch a film but they also practised the art of film reviewing and writing a review of the film like a professional.

There are good opportunities of jobs in the field of film making. Keeping this in mind this film screening was organised for the students. As a student of Journalism and Mass Communication it is very much important to learn the art of film reviewing and understanding films. This is only possible through watching and analysing a film properly.

Students learnt about the effect and impact of mass media and its entertaining approach towards the audience. They also learnt how to watch film as mass communication tool for bringing social change.

The film screening event proved to be productive for the students. They learn about various professional technical aspect involved in film production process like cinematography, screenplay and shot for sequencing the story.
