Department of Journalism and Mass Communication organised a departmental online quiz contest for the students on 11th December 2017. Students of the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication enthusiastically participated in the quiz contest.

The main focus to organise the quiz contest was to keep the students engaged with the academics related activities. Quiz questions were from various fields like general knowledge, politics, film, sports, cultural studies, etc.

This quiz contest was open for all the students of Journalism and mass communication department. The motive to conduct the quiz was to check student's knowledge in different topics of various fields.

The quiz contest helped students in developing interest in extracurricular activities for their overall development apart from development in academics. The quiz contest also helped students to build confidence to participate in quiz contests and prepared them to take part in such competitive activities in future.

The winner of this quiz contest was Sonal Thakur who performed well by scoring maximum score in this quiz contest.

The winner of this contest Sonal Thakur said "I am glad to be the winner of the quiz contest, such quiz contest should always be organised by the JMC because this help us to build confidence to participate in competitive events. Apart from studies participating in such kind of activities also help us in our overall development"

The moderator of the quiz contest Meghna Dutta said 'I am thankful to journalism and mass communication department for organising this productive contest. This activity gave me an opportunity to moderate the contest which built a confidence in me to moderate such contest in future as well, it was very interesting quiz contest to judge our knowledge in different field.'

The students enjoyed participating in this productive and interesting quiz contest and learnt how to moderate a quiz contest.

For a media professional it is very important to build confidence to perform better in professional life, this quiz contest was very much productive for all the participants and the moderator who built confidence by participating in this quiz contest.
