Consecration is a principle the Lord gives to His covenant people. To live this principle, men and women dedicate themselves completely to building up God's kingdom and ensuring that there are “no poor among them”. In a broader sense it is about equality. For the growth of the organization in the benefit of society and nation as well as people working within, our soul should be dedicatingly involved. Many of the time while taking the load of work pressure, people get imbalanced to manage the words, behaviour with the colleagues and even within family. This really affects the professional and also family value. Sometimes it will lead to anxiety and stress disorders. Keeping these demerits in view on 6th August 2022 a Spiritual discussion among the staff members of School of Pharmacy and Higher Management of ARKA JAIN University was done in the title of CONSECRATION at 11:30 AM in library of Block- B. The Director of the University Mr.Amit Kumar Shrivastav said that everyone should believe in the work culture of the University as University is the temple where work is worshiped. Honest involvement with this practice definitely keep everyone happy. Registrar Mr Jasbir Singh Dhanjal appreciated the in time work culture among the staff members of School of Pharmacy in every aspect. Vice Chancellor Dr. S.S.Razi blessed the gatherings. Everyone had taken an oath to remain responsible for the sanctity of the work atmosphere. A small tea refreshment was organised by School of Pharmacy where everyone assembled to enjoy it as prashad. The discussion was ended with vote of thanks by the dean of School of Pharmacy Dr. Jyotirmaya Sahoo.
