Date of Event	04.02.2023
Name of Event	Knowledge Manthan
Conducted by	Dr. Anupam Kumari
Number of Participants	25
Resource Person	Prof. Saroj Kumar Rajak (Asst. Prof., Dept. of Engg, Arka Jain University Jharkhand) Prof. Puja Prasad (Asst. Prof., Dept. of Engg, Arka Jain University Jharkhand)

The Resource person Prof. Saroj Kumar Rajak is Assistant Professor of the School of Engineering and IT, ARKA JAIN University Jhrkhand, Jamshedpur.

Prof. Saroj Kumar Rajak enlighten about the "GOOGLE COLAB". He said, google is quite aggressive in AI research, google developed AI framework called TensorFlow and a development tool called Colaboratory. Today TensorFlow is open-sourced and since 2017, Google made Colaboratory free for public use. Colaboratory is now known as Google Colab or simply Colab. He also talked about attractive feature that Google offers to the developers is the use of GPU. Colab supports GPU and it is totally free. The reasons for making it free for public could be to make its software a standard in the academics for teaching machine learning and data science. He said that the introduction of Colab has eased the learning and development of machine learning applications. To be precise, Colab is a free Jupyter notebook environment that runs entirely in the cloud. Most importantly, it does not require a setup and the notebooks that you create can be simultaneously edited by your team members - just the way you edit documents in Google Docs. Colab supports many popular machine learning libraries which can be easily loaded in your notebook.

At the end of his session, he said that as a programmer, Google Colab can be used in various field like, Write and execute code in Python, Document your code that supports mathematical equations, Create/Upload/Share notebooks, Import/Save notebooks from/to Google Drive, etc

The Resource person Prof. Puja Prasad is Assistant Professor of the School of Engineering and IT, ARKA JAIN University Jharkhand, Jamshedpur.

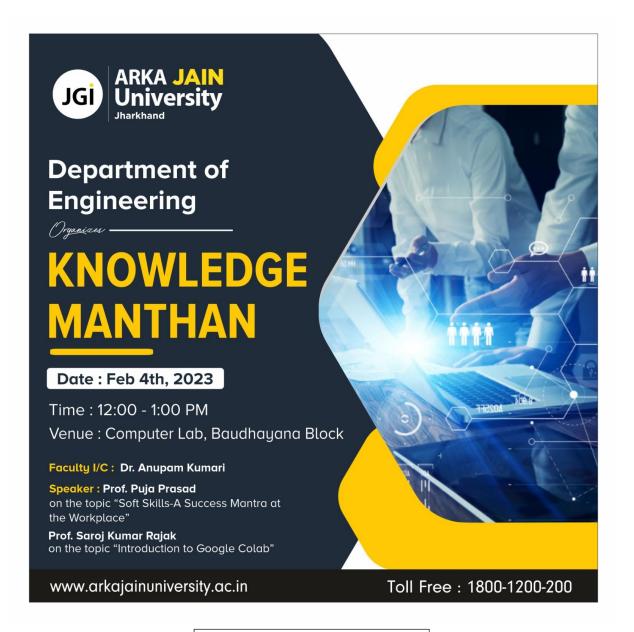

Prof. Puja Prasad addressed the participant about "Soft Skills-A Success Mantra at the Workplace". The aim of the lecture was to sensitize the audience about the importance of soft skills at the workplace. The speaker threw light on the list of important soft skills that are required to survive in the workplace like communication, time management, discipline, work ethics etc. Soft skills are arguably more challenging to develop, since they have little to do with knowledge or expertise, but are instead closely linked with a person's character. It requires a commitment to self-development and ongoing practice to improve your soft skills. She also stressed on the fact that a good leader should not only be an organizer but a good listener and an empathizer. A good leader should always distribute works on the basis of the strengths of his staff and not arbitrarily. She said, more widely accepted, holistic mantra for the 21st century is that soft skills and a willingness to learn is the natural pathway to success, rather than worrying solely about the mechanics of the job itself. So, the theory goes: success will come if you focus on developing yourself.
