| Conducted by | BHESAJAM the Pharma club in association with NSS and NCC. |

OBJECTIVE: The objective of the "बीमारी से बचाव" awareness program was to educate the villagers of Musarikudar about Anthrax, including its causes, symptoms, and prevention. The event aimed to raise awareness and empower the community with knowledge to help prevent the spread of Anthrax.

DETAILS:

Anthrax is a serious infectious disease caused by the bacterium Bacillus anthracis, which forms resilient spores that can infect humans and animals. It manifests in four forms: cutaneous (skin), inhalation (lungs), gastrointestinal (digestive system), and injection (from drug use). Transmission occurs through contact with contaminated animals or animal products, not from person to person. Symptoms vary based on the form but can be severe or fatal if not treated promptly with antibiotics. Prevention includes vaccination for high-risk individuals, proper handling of animals, and using protective gear when necessary. Considering the importance of awareness about the topic, on the eve of AARMBH 2024, the Induction and Orientation Program, the Bhesajam Club of the School of Pharmacy at ARKA JAIN University, under the aegis of Vikshit Bharat, in association with NSS and NCC, organized an awareness program in Musarikudar, an adopted village of ARKA JAIN University. The awareness program titled " बीमारी से बचाव" was conducted by the students of the School of Pharmacy at Musarikudar Village on 29th August 2024, starting at 9:00 am. The program aimed to educate the public about the prevention of Anthrax, a serious infectious disease. The event featured a skit as its central activity. The skit was directed by Md. Shamsher, a second-year Diploma student, along with Ms. Purnima Mahato, Assistant Professor at ARKA JAIN University. Students from Pharmacy course enthusiastically participated in the enactment, effectively bringing the message of Anthrax prevention to life. Upon reaching Musarikudar Village, the students actively engaged with the local community, inviting them to witness the skit. The villagers responded warmly, gathering in significant numbers to watch the information.

The skit was both informative and engaging, capturing the audience attention and effectively conveying crucial information about Anthrax prevention. The efforts of the students were highly appreciated by the villagers. The skit successfully fulfilled its purpose of raising awareness about Anthrax. The tremendous effort put in by the students and the guidance provided by their mentors were truly laudable as well as highly appreciated by the villagers. The event underscored the importance of community education in preventing the spread of infectious diseases like Anthrax. The program was meticulously organized and conducted by Mr. Gowri, Ms. Nisha, Ms. Purnima, Ms. Pakhi and Ms. Rashmi under the vigilant supervision of Dr. Jyotirmaya Sahoo, Dean of the School of Pharmacy, ARKA JAIN University. Their collective efforts ensured the success of the event, making a positive impact on the health and awareness of the villagers of Musarikudar.

OUTCOMES: The "बीमारी से बचाव" awareness program was a significant step in educating the villagers about Anthrax prevention. The well-organized event, led by passionate students and faculty members, left a lasting impression on the community and emphasized the role of education in disease prevention.
