OBJECTIVE:

To celebrate the International Day of Women and Girls in Science, the Department of Engineering at Arka Jain University organized a “PowerPoint Presentation” for students. The primary objective of this event was to promote full and equal access to and participation in science for women and girls.

DETAILS:

The School of Engineering & IT hosted a “PowerPoint Presentation” on the occasion of the International Day of Women and Girls in Science. The presentation aimed to create awareness among students about the remarkable contributions and achievements of women in the field of science. The event highlighted the pioneering work of female scientists and their invaluable role in shaping scientific advancements.

Students actively participated in the presentation, showcasing their knowledge and research on various female scientists and their contributions. The event provided a platform for students to learn about historical and contemporary women leaders in science while also encouraging them to pursue careers in STEM fields.

TAKEAWAY (OUTCOMES): Through this event, students gained valuable insights into the contributions of female scientists and their groundbreaking work in various scientific domains. It also provided an opportunity for students to present their innovative ideas and research in front of dignitaries and fellow students. The event was well received, fostering inspiration and motivation among participants to explore and contribute to the world of science.

The session successfully reinforced the importance of gender equality in science, encouraging more women and girls to actively engage in scientific endeavors.
