SESSION ON AI AND LAW: NAVIGATING THE LANDSCAPE

Objective: The nature of the Indian legal profession is such that the entire procedure is done manually since the legal sector is still believed to be labour-intensive. As a result, AI is still in its early phases, with many older champions believing that technology should not be employed extensively since it may eventually take over man, and so avoiding the idea of AI in legislation. Having said that, there are many tech-savvy lawyers, as well as large law firms, who are taking full advantage of technological innovations in order to get an advantage over their competitors. We all know that the Indian legal system is extensive, with our Constitution alone being the world's longest; as a result, with changing times, it's critical to use AI in law to cope with the dynamic environment. In the field of legal research, lawyers can use machine learning technology to get unmatched insight into the legal world in a matter of seconds.

Details: Lawyers use Artificial Intelligence tools to perform due diligence and uncover background information. In light of the current scenario, developers have opted to integrate a slew of new features, including agreement review, legal inquiry, and electronic media for this section of the industry. Event was conducted by the School of Law to aware them about artificial Intelligence.

The event was convened by the Dean Prof. (Dr.) Praveen K. Thakur and Program Coordinator Dr. Archita Dash and coordinated by Asst. Prof Shreya Sonal for which guest lecturer from VIT Chennai i.e. Assistant Professor Kavi Shankar was invited.

Outcomes: Students will be able to understand the role of artificial intelligence in law and in lawyers life. Also whether artificial intelligence will takeover the job of lawyers or not.

Guest detail: Mr. Kavi Shankar Assistant Professor of Vellore Institute of Technology, Chennai was invited to give the lecture. He has qualified UGC-NET and also has the teaching experience of 3 years including KLE Society, Bengaluru.
