ABOUT THE EVENT:

110 residents of Burudih were assessed in the screening camp organized by the department of Optometry, ARKA JAIN University in collaboration with ASG Eye hospital, Sakchi and NSS cell of the University. June is the month to be observed for spreading awareness about Cataract, since it is the most common type of preventable blindness in the community. To make the unreached community aware of the eye care services that are available for treatment of various eye diseases, is a responsibility of priority for optometrists. Vision assessment, refraction, cataract screening & grading of cataract, Blood pressure and blood sugar measurements were conducted. ASG Eye hospital helped in the referrals and NSS helped us in collecting the community at the healthcare centre which was the camp site.

TAKEAWAY (OUTCOME):

The majority of outreach community is still unaware of the fact that the vision loss due to cataract is temporary and can be reversed back to normal unless there are any other complications. Cataract can affect any age group with various reasons of pathogenesis, but the most common type is the cataract caused in the adult age group due to aging. The older community can sometimes not travel to the main city to receive the services, therefore; in that such camps are very helpful. The residents of Burudih were updated about the health schemes and treatment options for cataract.
