FDP ON SUSTAINABILITY IN HIGHER EDUCATION

Date of Event	8th July to 14th July 2024
Name of the Event	FDP on Higher Education
Type of the Event	Faculty Development Programme
Conducted by	School of Commerce & Management- Department of Management (MBA)
No. Of Participant	54

OBJECTIVE:

To give insights of Sustainability in Higher Education – its significance and relevance for modern day practices

DETAILS:

The 7 days Faculty Development Programme was organized for faculty to understand the importance of sustainability and incorporate it in curriculum. There were discussions regarding how to equip educators with the knowledge and tools needed to integrate sustainability concepts into their teaching and course design, ensuring that students are educated about environmental and social sustainability. The speakers in this FDP also shared best practices and innovative strategies for implementing sustainability initiatives within higher education institutions, fostering a culture of environmental responsibility and stewardship. The speakers also highlighted how to involve and help faculty understand the broader sustainability efforts, creating a unified approach to sustainability that can positively impact campus operations, policies, and community engagement. The speakers in FDP also discussed about how to facilitate networking and collaboration among faculty members who are interested in or already working on sustainability issues, fostering a community of practice within the institution.

KEY TAKEAWAYS:

There were discussions about very important topics like Sustainability in Policy making level, how to set standards of operations for attaining sustainability goals, examination & evaluations of systems, campus operations, networking amongst faculty members, collaborations and community engagements etc.

Mukul Pandey (Presenting)

Sustainable development is the most heard and talked about terminology these days. It implies focusing on the development in a way that meets the expectations and needs of the present generation without exasperating the needs of coming generations in the future. Our planet is continuously facing natural calamities, climatic changes, rapid changes in technology, and the depletion of natural resources, making the entire community need to focus on sustainable development. There are four main pillars of sustainable development, i.e., society or social, economic, environmental, and cultural. All four aspects focus on different dimensions of sustainable development. They are dependent on each other, and at the same time, they are also an integral part of sustainable development (UNESCO).

Mukul Pandey (Presenting)

Sustainable development is a movement led by the world to make the earth a better place to live. Sustainability plays a pivotal role in changing and increasing the 'environmental,' 'economic,' and 'social performance' of individuals and businesses.

Sustainability has also become an inherent part of the education system of any country. In the education industry, sustainability implies engaging in economically feasible, socially acceptable, and environmentally friendly activities. A sustainable organization emphasizes these aspects in its educational curriculum, research, and innovation. Also, it prepares the next generation of students who can contribute to society and work to develop a healthy and green environment.

PRACTICES EMERGING FROM POLICIES

- ▶ Along with policies, the legalities in the form of laws, ordinances, etc., require their strict implementation to guide the administration-of the institutions.
- ▶ Thereafter, at the level of the individual institutions, the school head frames certain rules and regulations for carrying out the administrative process.
- ▶ The aspirations of a country for ushering in equality and justice are reflected in the educational policies.
- ▶ Institutions are today also becoming planning centres in their own right due to the policies related to decentralisation.

STAGE 10: LONG TERM SUSTAINABILITY

- ▶ What?
 - Ensure that the results of the projects are utilized after their completion and the benefits are sustained over time, while guaranteeing the commencement of new projects
- ▶ Why?
 - Sustainable development is by nature a long term concept Some of the changes resulted from the short term projects are only seen in the long term
- ▶ How?
 - Creating a long term sustainability plan as soon as possible for the projects
 - Seeking new sources of funding and other resources to continue the implementation of current or new projects
 - Integrating the sustainable practices resulting from a project into the normal functioning of specific offices or teams
 - Appointing a dedicated person or office to the continued running of the sustainability projects
 - Ensuring that the sustainability plan extends beyond the term of the leadership team who designed it
