MODEL MAKING SESSION ON RESPIRATORY SYSTEM

Date of Event	06.04.2026-09.04.2026
Name of the Event	Model Making Session on Respiratory System
Type of the Event	A Participative Learning Program for Slow and Advance Learner
Conducted by	School of Pharmacy
No. Of Participants	54

OBJECTIVE:

The Model Making Session on Respiratory System organized by school of pharmacy from 06th April 2026–09th April 2026 is a 3-day participative learning program for B. Pharm 2nd semester students designed for both slow and advanced learners. It aims to enhance conceptual understanding of the respiratory system through hands-on model creation, encouraging creativity, teamwork, and active engagement. The session helps learners bridge theoretical knowledge with practical application, improve retention, and build confidence by promoting peer learning and inclusive participation in a collaborative environment.

DETAILS:

The Model Making Session on Respiratory System began on 6th April 2026 at 12:30 PM and was conducted over three days, concluding on 9th April 2026. The program was designed for both slow and advanced learners, ensuring inclusive participation. Students were grouped and guided by the subject teacher to design and develop detailed working and non-working models of the respiratory system using creative materials. The sessions included concept discussions, planning, model construction, and final presentation. Participants actively engaged in teamwork, idea sharing, and problem-solving, which enhanced their practical understanding, creativity, and confidence while strengthening their grasp of respiratory system concepts.

TAKEAWAY (OUTCOMES):

Students developed a clear understanding of the respiratory system through hands-on learning. The activity improved creativity, teamwork, and communication skills. Both slow and advanced learners gained confidence and better concept clarity. The session enhanced practical knowledge, problem-solving ability, and active participation, making learning more engaging, effective, and application-oriented.
