Date of Event	24-Apr-2025
Name of the Event	Guest Speaker Session – Universal Human Values
Type of the Event	Ethics, Gender, Human Values, Environment and Sustainability
Conducted by	Mukul Pandey
No. Of Participants	64

OBJECTIVE:

The primary objective of this guest lecture session was to introduce students to the concept of Universal Human Values. The aim was to make them clear about importance of Universal Human Values in their personal, academic, and professional life. The session aimed to facilitate the awareness and understanding among management students about core human values such as truth, peace, right conduct, non-violence, and the importance of harmony at various levels — self, family, society, nature, and existence. The lecture sought to empower students with values-based thinking for holistic personal development and responsible future leadership.

DETAILS:

Department of Management- MBA, ARKA Jain University organised a session on Universal Human Values. This was a highly enriching Guest Lecture Session under the Department of Management, MBA, on the topic “Universal Human Values”. The session was conducted on 24th April 2025.

The session was graced by Dr. Arvind Kumar Pandey, Director, IQAC & Dean, School of CS & IT, ARKA JAIN University, Jamshedpur. Dr. Pandey, with his deep understanding of ethical leadership and human values, brought a unique perspective by connecting ancient wisdom with contemporary management practices.

The event was convened by Dr. Urvarshi Thakur, HOD, MBA, and coordinated by Prof. Mukul Pandey, MBA Department. The session witnessed the enthusiastic participation of students from MBA Semester II and Semester IV, who were eager to learn how universal values can influence their decision-making, professional relationships, and personal integrity.

Dr. Pandey began the lecture by highlighting the importance of values in one’s life, especially in the age of rapid technological advancement and growing competition. He emphasized that truth, right understanding, right conduct, peace, and non-violence are not just moral ideals but practical tools for sustainable development, both at the individual and societal levels.

Using the model of concentric circles — Self, Family, Society, Nature, and Existence — he explained how harmony must be established at each level to achieve a balanced and meaningful life. He also discussed real-life examples from education, business, and governance where adherence to human values has led to long-term success and trust.

Interactive and reflective, the session encouraged students to question their assumptions, evaluate their life goals, and explore value-based decision-making in their academic and professional journeys.

TAKEAWAY (OUTCOMES):

1. Students gained clarity on the foundational concept of Universal Human Values and their real-world relevance.
2. The lecture helped learners understand the interrelationship between personal conduct and social harmony.
3. The model shared by Dr. Pandey (Self → Family → Society → Nature → Existence) gave students a structured framework to evaluate ethical choices.
4. The session encouraged introspection, self-awareness, and the need for emotional intelligence in leadership.
5. Students appreciated the linkage between inner values and external success, especially in management careers.
6. The program concluded with active participation and questions from the students, reflecting their engagement and curiosity.
